A New Financial and Operating Plan for the Detroit Public Schools

As the Detroit Public Schools (DPS) District struggles with a nearly $170 million budget deficit, its newly appointed financial emergency manager, Darnell Earley, will announce today a 45-day Financial and Operating Plan, which includes 10-point management plan that will guide the district toward financial stability and educational competitiveness. Detroit Public Television (DPTV) will stream the announcement live on our website, starting at 2 p.m. today.
http://www.dptv.org/video/detroit-public-schools-news/

Earley replaced Jack Martin in February as DPS' fourth emergency manager in six years. Prior to that, he served as the city of Flint's EM. His experience includes serving as Saginaw city manager, Flint city administrator and Ingham County's budget director and deputy controller. Earley is a municipal finance expert known for working closely with community organizations. During his career, he has held many other high-profile professional positions, including director of research and public policy staff (Michigan House of Representatives); township manager (Buena Vista Charter Township, Michigan); administrative assistant to the county administrator/EEO (Muskegon, Michigan) and director of community development (Urban League in Muskegon).

Tune in and find out what his plan entails and how it can benefit DPS students.

The State Emergency Operations Center (SEOC) is coordinating a response to the ongoing health and safety issues in the city of Flint's drinking water. Teams from the Michigan State Police, Genesee County Sheriff's Department, Michigan Department of Health and Human Services, and volunteer organizations have been delivering bottled water, water filters, replacement cartridges and water testing kits at homes in the city of Flint since Tuesday.

To help with this critical work, the SEOC is looking for volunteers to expand this effort and continue this distribution during the upcoming holiday weekend. Teams are being assembled for shifts on Saturday, January 16; Sunday, January 17; and Monday, January 18, 2016. If you are interested in volunteering your time for this critical work, please complete the information in one of the attached surveys (depending on which day you are volunteering).

To volunteer on Saturday, January 16, https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/28NVJBL

To volunteer on Sunday, January 17, https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/26NMJKK

To volunteer on Monday, January 18, https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/26P7P5G

Volunteers will begin their assignment at the Local Emergency Operations Center located in the Genesee County Administration Building located at 1101 Beach St, Flint at 9 a.m. and end by 4 p.m. Parking is available at the corner of Beach Street and 8th Street. Lunch will be provided. This is strictly a volunteer effort, as all three days will be unpaid. Volunteers are responsible for their own transportation; mileage reimbursement for personal vehicles is not authorized. Volunteers should dress for working outdoors and wear foot attire appropriate for walking.

This opportunity is for state employees and their immediate family members 16 years of age or older only, others looking to assist should volunteer through the American Red Cross in Flint. The volunteer coordination center for the Red Cross is located at 1401 S. Grand Traverse, Flint, MI. They are open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Kerri, do you know anything about Facilities renting a warehouse in Flint to hold all the water. Just curious if you knew what Index they were charging that to? We are going to set up an index for DTMB to use for all expenses that are related to this so I would like to get that changed if possible. Once we have the index I will let you know so that going forward you can Facilities charge all future expenses here.

Troy,

I decided to read through the emails again and then I thought that I really need to request that we make every attempt possible to have the landlord check out this location. With what is happening in Flint, I want to make sure that we have done everything within our authority to seek assistance from the Landlord. I'm sure that when I go back to the UAW and explain our responses, the assertion of the UAW will be to frame this in a manner of Flint water and they may go to the press about our callous disregard of state employee's health.

In an email that you sent in March of 2015 you made suggestions to Mr. Murray and I'm wondering if there was any follow up to our suggestions to see if he made those.

I also have to take this to our Chief Deputy and I'm concerned that he may take this to Brom, so I just want to make sure that we are comfortable with everything prior to me getting back to the UAW.

Thanks for taking another look.

Good morning,

I totally forgot to bring this up yesterday at our meeting. I have been asked repeatedly about what we are going to do about the above location and the asserted mold that is in the basement. The department has conducted several air quality test in the area that we occupy and the results have come back ok. However, the UAW states that we should be doing more, which I am not sure what else we can do.

Therefore, I am asking if there is anything else that DTMB –RED can do to ask the current landlord to check into the asserted mold in the basement.

Can you please let me know at your earliest convinence or maybe we can have a conference call to discuss it further.

Thanks
Kurt

How we are fixing the Flint water crsis

Governor Rick Snyder has committed to spending the rest of his time as Governor to fixing the Flint water crisis. Over the last few days, he has sat down to explain what happened and how we're fixing the Flint water crisis. Watch the interviews below and be sure to read the Governor's Op-Ed in the USA Today.

Governor Snyder on Morning Joe

"What is so frustrating and what makes you so angry is you have a handful of experts who were career civil servants that made terrible decisions, in my view. We have to live with the consequences, and they worked for me, so I accept that responsibility. We are going to fix this problem." Watch Governor Snyder address how we are fixing the Flint water crisis on Morning Joe.

Governor Snyder with Charlie LeDuff on Fox 2 Detroit

"I feel awful about this. These are people. They've been harmed. You can't feel good about that. The people of Flint have been harmed and a major influence of that harm came from people who worked for me, and I feel responsible for that. But I am committed to solving the problem and addressing the damage as much as possible for the rest of the time I'm Governor." Watch Governor Snyder address the Flint water crisis with Charlie LeDuff on Fox 2 News.

Governor Snyder's 2016 State of the State

"Michiganders don't quit, we don't give up, instead we will work with even more passion and commitment to truly improve our state. For everyone who's chosen to make Michigan their home, this is more than a promise, this is my commitment." Watch Governor Snyder's full closing statement from his 2016 State of the State address.

Governor in USA Today: "I will fix this, and I mean it."

"Residents in one of Michigan's proud cities cannot drink their water. That's unacceptable. The crisis in Flint arose from missteps at all levels of government — local, state and federal. But as governor, I take responsibility for what these families are going through, and I'm holding people in my administration accountable for their failures." Washington Post: "Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder is in a tough spot, but he's his own best spokesman"

Snyder has born the brunt of criticism in the local health crisis that has turned into a national scandal. But unlike many other politicians facing crises of leadership, Snyder may also be his own best counter-programming. Click here to read the full story in the Washington Post.

During this month's Martin Luther King Jr. holiday weekend, some state employees turned their "day off" into a "day on" in Flint. There, they delivered bottled water, water filters, replacement cartridges and water testing kits to families. The volunteers joined other Michiganders, turning Dr. King's birthday observance into a day of service.

Now work.

Last week, I signed a new policy that formalizes the annual employee review process and sets expectations for employees and managers. Administrative Policy 200.37 establishes consistent standards for implementing performance plans and reviews. Some of the standards are practices we have followed for years. Others are new. Some of particular note include:

- The mandatory use of HRMN
- A standard Feb. 1-Jan. 31 rating period for all employees
- An Individual Development Plan that specifies training or development programs for each employee
- Competencies and objectives that align to DTMB goals or scorecard metrics
- Consequences for managers and supervisors who do not complete the review process as required

A fundamental role of each DTMB manager or supervisor is to provide employees with direction and feedback on their performance. Employees also are expected to take an active role in pursuing professional development opportunities and achieving their competencies and objectives. I encourage you to review the new policy and talk with your manager or supervisor if you have questions. Of course, I welcome your questions and input as well. Please send your comments and ideas to me at behend@michigan.gov.

I know these have been busy weeks for many of you as you take on additional responsibilities and work hard to provide resources and services for our customers and citizens across the state. Please know that your hard work has not gone unnoticed. Thank you for everything you do, every day.

Have a great week,

David

Neal – Based on our phone conversation, I'm looking for storage/warehouse space for a potentially large amount of water samples over the next few months with the State of Emergency that is happening in Flint right now. Wondering if there are any locations near the Lab that we could utilize for this effort if necessary. At a minimum, the space would need to be secured and temperature controlled, only to prevent freezing. Also looking for pallets that can hold around 1000 Lbs or more. The idea is that we palletize samples here and have them transferred to this storage location on a daily/weekly basis as necessary. There is really no storage space for this kind of capacity here at the State Lab. Initial estimate of space needs based on the number of potential samples would be 1000-1500 ft^2, enough to hold around 100 (3'x4') pallets with additional space to maneuver around to get to specific pallets if necessary.

Sandip – Copying you on this message if you have any ideas that could help.

Thank you!

THANK YOU!

Fellow employees,

Each day, more than 46,000 state of Michigan employees come to work with the confidence and commitment to make Michigan a better place to live, work and play. I appreciate the way you care about the citizens we serve, and how it is reflected in the work that you do.

As you have heard from me and the media, our reputation and trust can be severely impacted when people do not make good decisions, or use good judgment in solving problems. That principle is universal, but never more so than when public health is at stake. What happened in Flint can never be allowed to happen again anywhere in our state.

I know that you want to work in a place where employee input is valued, efforts are recognized, and teams are always striving for continuous improvement. That's why we introduced employee surveys, Bureaucracy Busters and other reinvention initiatives. We want and deserve a culture of innovation, continuous improvement and employee engagement at every level. We can never take for granted how important the people are who depend on us to do our jobs, and I am asking you not to let the situation in Flint negatively impact your motivation to excel every day.

Many of you have taken an interest in helping the citizens of Flint on your own time, and I'd like to take this opportunity to recognize and thank those who have volunteered over the last couple of weekends. You have worked tirelessly to deliver cases of bottled water, water filters, replacement cartridges and water testing kits to the families in need. I appreciate you donating your time to help our fellow Michiganders. To date, more than 37,000 homes have been visited by one of our water resource teams.

For employees who would like to further help the people of Flint, please visit www.HelpForFlint.com to learn how you can do so. For additional information and to sign up for daily updates, please visit www.mi.gov/FlintWater. I am committed to ensuring that all residents have access to safe and clean water.

Again, I'd like to express my gratitude for the work you do every day to continuously improve our state and earn the trust of those you serve. You make a real difference.

Thanks,

Budget recommendation will include $30 million request for Flint water bill repayments

When Governor Rick Snyder presents his budget recommendation next Wednesday, Feb. 10, he will include a $30 million request for the residents of Flint to keep their water service on and eliminate the need to pay for water they cannot completely trust to drink.

Under the governor's ask, the funding would enable the city of Flint to apply credits for customers on future bills. Estimates show water is roughly 47 percent of billing and sewer costs are around 53 percent. The credit would be applied to consumption usage (roughly 65 percent) of a resident's water portion of the bill, such as for bathing, drinking, cooking, and washing your hands. Residents still would be responsible for paying the sewer portion of their water bills.

Professor Marc Edwards of Virginia Tech said, "This essentially refunds all the money associated with consumption or consumer use. I think it's an amazing gesture of common sense and good will and it corrects an injustice. I don't think there's a precedent for this. I feel so encouraged by the direction this is going."

We spoke with Staff Sgt. Thomas Vega about the critical resources they're providing to Flint families every day. He also encouraged residents to pick up and return their water testing kits to Flint fire stations. Test results will be posted online at www.mi.gov/flintwater. Click here to watch the video.

VIDEO: How volunteers are helping Flint

Volunteers at the Food Bank of Eastern Michigan are working hard to collect donations in order to help the families of Flint. Last Thursday, Governor Snyder visited with the many dedicated volunteers and helped sort cans of food.

Good nutrition is critically important for Flint's children. Foods that are high in calcium, vitamin C, and iron can help limit the effects of lead exposure. To donate or volunteer at the Food Bank of Eastern Michigan, visit www.fbem.org.

Subject: The Gov. Snyder's Budget Proposal

Good morning everyone. I hope everyone had a great holiday weekend.

I had the good fortune to travel to Marquette on Monday with Chad Laidlaw, DTMB's policy and planning analyst, to meet with city, business and university leaders and to address the Economic Club of Marquette. I told them about the many things DTMB does, placing special emphasis on our work in mobility and cybersecurity. Marquette is really developing and making its mark as an innovative and entrepreneurial community.

Now work.

The executive budget Gov. Snyder presented last week outlined his investment plan for Michigan. Yes, the proposal for fiscal year 2017-18 outlined a strategy to address the critical challenges of addressing the Flint water crisis and turning around Detroit's Public Schools, but the $54.9 billion plan also includes investment in four key areas:

- Education. The budget increases investment to K-12 schools, community colleges and the state's public universities. Additional funds are proposed to expand career, technical, science, technology, engineering and math programs.
- Protecting the Public. The governor's plan expands the Secure Cities program, which has reduced violent crime in four major Michigan cities. Funds also would support an additional trooper recruit school and an academy to train corrections officers, among other initiatives.
- Putting People First. The governor recommends continued expansion of the Healthy Kids Dental Program and funding efforts to ensure residents have access to affordable health care. His proposal boosts funds to help cover new higher cost specialty medications to treat conditions such as hepatitis C and cystic fibrosis, among others.
- Investing in Infrastructure. The proposal allocates $1.2 billion to maintain and repair Michigan roads, bridges and other critical infrastructure.

The budget proposal also includes FY 2017-18 funding recommendations for DTMB. Gov. Snyder recommends ongoing funding of $1.3 billion for department operations and a one-time allocation of $32.4 million.

A few highlights include:

- $502 million for information technology support for all state agencies and $132.8 million for 14 high-priority IT projects in seven agencies. He recommends increasing the Information Technology Investment Fund by $7 million, from $65 million to $72 million. This fund supports several major multiyear IT projects and upgrades, including the replacement of outdated legacy systems.
- An additional $5 million to support cybersecurity improvements to safeguard citizens' personal information and protect critical infrastructure and government services.
- IT support of $6.5 million to modernize the Office of Retirement Services' systems and enhance customer service for more than 530,000 current and future retirees.

You can see the full executive budget recommendations, which are posted on the Budget Office website. Details of DTMB's proposed budget begin on page B-75.

We can expect to see many changes before the budgets are signed and become effective Oct. 1. The executive budget will be used by the House and Senate Appropriations Committees as they work on their own budgets and hold committee hearings on the proposals. I'll keep you posted as the process moves ahead.

As always, I welcome your notes, whether about the budget process or any other topic. Please send them to me at behend@michigan.gov.

Thank you again for all the good work you do. I hope you have a great week ahead.

David

RE: Flint Crisis - Warehouse Costs

Please review the costs associated with the warehouse space quoted by Gary Porrett, Sr. (Lessor). Mr. Porrett has agreed to provide the state 80,000 of warehouse space at $4.00 per square feet. Utility costs will be passed through to the State of Michigan. Mr. Porrett will provide four workers and one supervisor to move water and supplies from semi-trucks trucks to his warehouse. Total daily costs to operate the project including labor is $5,697 per day ($2,079,550 annually). Laborers have worked 12 hours and seven days a week since inception of the business relationship. DTMB Real Estate Division performed due diligence to ensure that the expenses are within market costs.

Looks good. I just have a few suggestions below.

the state 80,000 of warehouse space at $4.00 per square feet. Would it read better to say, the State of Michigan 80,000 square footage of warehouse space at $4.00 per square feet?

Utility costs will be passed through to the State of Michigan. Would it read better to say, the State of Michigan will be responsible for paying the utility costs for the duration of the lease agreement?

Total daily costs to operate the project including labor is $5,697 per day ($2,079,550 annually). Would it read better to say
Total daily costs to operate the storage warehouse including labor…..?

Laborers have worked 12 hours and seven days a week since inception of the business relationship. I would suggest including the date of inception.

1.01 This proposal was prepared by Cindy Meloche, 248-423-5343, cm5782@att.com.

1.02 AT&T shall furnish and install labor and materials associated with Entrance Facilities to support network fiber installation at the State of Michigan facility at 630 S. Saginaw in Flint, MI, providing a certified design and installation. This installation will be per the site evaluation and as further described below.

1.03 This proposal does not include installation during frozen ground conditions, or while State-imposed Frost Laws are in effect. Installation during such time would dramatically increase the pricing provided in this proposal.

1.04 There is no fiber cable included in this proposal.

1.05 There are no LAN Electronics included in this proposal.

2.0 Scope of Work - Entrance Facilities

2.01 External: Site is ready for fiber installation.

2.02 Interior Extension: AT&T shall furnish and install copper patch cord connection from Smart Jack to Router.

2.03 Backboard, Power and Ground requirements. AT&T shall furnish and install:
a) Fire-rated Backboard: NO - Backboard Space is existing
b) 110v power source: YES
c) #6 Ground at the proposed equipment location: YES

3.0 OSP Construction where applicable

3.01 All Sidewalks, streets, alleyways, gutters, façade, and landscaping items along the cable pathway and around the entrance facilities will be replaced to its original condition or better. AT&T reserves the right to replace sod, trees, and/or shrubbery during favorable times of the year to ensure growth of the replaced items. This will not preclude acceptance and payment of the project if substantial completion and operation of the network has been achieved.

3.02 Client and building owner must approve all penetrations into building structures, in writing, before commencement of work. All penetrations into building will be sealed around the conduits (sleeves) to help prevent water penetration or other material from intruding into structure from around the metal conduit sleeve.

3.03 AT&T shall place the conduit described above using directional boring as the primary method of installation. This is preferred due to the minimal impact upon the conduit route's environmental conditions. Directional boring techniques may reduce the restoration requirements of the project. Restoration efforts are directly affected by the utility density along the route and with the level of landscaping encountered along the parkways and around buildings.

3.04 AT&T shall place a portion of the conduit for this installation using open trenching methods. When trenching methods are utilized, during backfill activities, AT&T shall place a warning tape above the conduit to alert any future excavator of the presence of an underground facility. This Warning Tape will be placed approximately 18" below the existing ground surface. The tape may contain specific information about the owner of the facility, including contact information.

3.05 Prior to underground conduit placement operations, AT&T shall notify all utilities and agencies of the pending construction through a State-Approved One-Call service (MISS-DIG) as required by law. AT&T may elect to "pot-hole" the marked utilities for location verification.

Note: Delays by Member Utilities in locating facilities in the public right-of-way or on private property may effect the timeline of this project. These types of delays are outside the control of AT&T.

3.06 Any grade-mounted hand-holes will be constructed of a fiberglass-reinforced aggregate matrix bound with polymer resin or reinforced concrete. The hand-hole cover will be mounted flush with existing grade and constructed with a load rating of AASHTO H-20. All conduits entering or exiting hand-holes will be sealed to prevent the movement of water through the duct.

3.07 Excavated surface areas shall be restored to equal or better than their state prior to construction.

4.0 Rock Clause where applicable

4.01 An additional charge may apply if solid rock is encountered while directional boring. In the event solid rock is encountered, AT&T shall notify Client in writing prior to incursion of additional fees related to the rock.

5.0 Quality of Work

5.01 AT&T's installation practices will be governed by EIA/TIA Telecommunications Building Wiring Standards, the BICSI Telecommunication Distribution Methods Manual and local building codes.

5.02 All work shall be done in accordance with the respective drawings, written specifications, supplemental information, industry standards, trade practice, and applicable regulatory agencies.

5.03 All work shall be performed by competent personnel and executed in a neat and workmanlike manner providing a thorough and complete installation.

5.04 Any work deemed inferior shall be reported to AT&T for immediate corrective action.

5.05 AT&T shall be responsible on a daily basis for cleanup and removal of all debris resulting from work performed by AT&T. Upon completion of the project, AT&T shall remove all tools, equipment, obstructions or debris present as a result of AT&T's portion of the overall project.

6.0 Schedule

6.01 AT&T's normal work schedule for this project shall be Monday - Friday, 8:00am - 5:00pm. Work beyond this schedule requires the approval of AT&T or overtime rates will be charged to the Customer via a Change Order.

6.02 Refer to the attached 'Assumptions' list for additional schedule information.

7.0 Installation Oversight

7.01 AT&T shall provide project management/coordination to monitor and control all technical and administrative support activities related to this SOW.

7.02 AT&T shall provide qualified on-site installation supervision.

8.0 Warranty

8.01 AT&T's proposal includes a 90-day labor warranty.

8.02 AT&T warrants that: (i) For a period of ninety (90) days following completion of the Project, Services provided will have been performed in a workmanlike manner and (ii) Any material provided will be free from defects for a period of ninety (90) days following completion of the project.

8.03 If AT&T responds to a Client's request for repairs during the warranty period and determines that the problem(s) is not covered by the contracted warranties, AT&T will invoice and Client agrees to pay AT&T a minimum two (2)-hour service charge (at AT&T's then current hourly rates).

8.04 All manufacturers' warranties that extend past the AT&T standard warranty period will be passed through to Client. Warranty issues outside the AT&T standard warranty period must be negotiated direct between Client and the Manufacturer.

Attachment B - Assumptions

4.0 Schedule

4.01 AT&T's requires a minimum of 10 working days notice before the start of work.

4.02 AT&T installation charges indicated in this proposal are based on a construction interval as noted on the quotation sheet and/or Scope of Work. Client may be responsible for increased charges if additional labor or premium wages are required to achieve a shorter installation interval at Client's request. Client may be responsible for increased charges if additional labor or premium wages are required to maintain the contracted installation interval following Client delays.

4.03 Alterations or deviations, if any, from the above scope of work, or any delays or postponements of the work by the Client or it's agents which result in additional materials or labor costs, will become an extra charge which will be billed as an addition to this proposal amount. Any extra move on or off the job site due to circumstances beyond AT&T's control will be billed as an extra at hourly labor and equipment rates in effect at the time.

4.04 AT&T will perform this job in its entirety only and all work will be performed within AT&T's normal work schedules, unless Client contracts for premium work scheduling.

4.05 Completion date for this project will be negotiated pending contract signing and/or Client Purchase Order receipt by AT&T, and may depend on the manufacturer's ability to ship the necessary products.

4.06 This proposal assumes all material and /or equipment will be transported standard ground fashion. No air freight or expedite costs are included.

4.07 Any delays caused by outside parties (i.e., the Client, general contractor, electricians or contract vendors other than AT&T) will be documented and presented to the Point of Contact for resolution.

5.0 Existing Conditions

5.01 AT&T assumes there are no abnormal environmental or hazardous conditions on the Client's premise which would require extraordinary safety and/or regulatory functions, activities, permits or certifications for AT&T to perform the required work.

5.02 Unless specifically described otherwise in the Scope of Work, no provision has been made in this proposal for the removal, evacuation or disposal of Client-owned, obsolete cabling facilities or components. Compliance with local, state, and federal codes beyond the installation of the cabling system mentioned in this proposal, is the responsibility of Client.

5.03 AT&T assumes an existing TIA-607 compliant Building Ground System meeting local, state, and national electrical codes within each telecommunications room. Where bonding to this ground system is required, AT&T shall install a telecommunications grounding bus bar and #6 AWG ground conductor for bonding to the existing building grounding system. Where a building ground system is not installed, code or standards compliant, Client will be notified and given an opportunity to make appropriate corrections. Additional work performed by AT&T to provide code or standard compliance shall be at Client's expense.

5.04 AT&T does not guarantee Client's existing cable facilities.

If the any of the following conditions are encountered during construction, additional fees may apply (AT&T will deliver a separate, written proposal in the form of a Change Order which must be approved before any additional fees are incurred):

1) Rocky Soil - Soil containing rock to the point of substantially inhibiting the directional-boring process.

2) Solid Rock - Rock requiring trenching and/or jack hammering to facilitate the underground pathway placement.

3) Obstructions - Unforeseen debris left underground during previous construction (i.e. tanks, foundations, project debris, etc.) which requires obstruction removal or route modification.

4) Undisclosed Contaminated Soil - Soil containing one or more contaminants from an unintentional or intentional spilling, or a naturally occurring contaminant which requires removal or route modification.

Note - Client is solely responsible to identify contaminated soil conditions before construction. Should contaminated soil be encountered, AT&T will adhere to all rules and regulations governing the handling of such soil. Potential additional costs include special training and/or procedures required to handle soil as well as cartage/disposal of any contaminated soil that needs to be removed from the site.

6.03 AT&T assumes all existing manholes are equipped with racks, bonded, and grounded according to telecommunication industry standards. The proposal does not include bring existing facilities up to industry standards.

6.04 AT&T assumes no soil compaction testing is required.

6.05 AT&T assumes no soil erosion control is required.

Client may be responsible for increased charges if additional labor or premium wages are required to achieve a shorter installation interval at Client's request. Client may be responsible for increased charges if additional labor or premium wages are required to maintain the contracted installation interval following Client delays.

4.03 Alterations or deviations, if any, from the above scope of work, or any delays or postponements of the work by the Client or it's agents which result in additional materials or labor costs, will become an extra charge which will be billed as an addition to this proposal amount. Any extra move on or off the job site due to circumstances beyond AT&T's control will be billed as an extra at hourly labor and equipment rates in effect at the time.

4.04 AT&T will perform this job in its entirety only and all work will be performed within AT&T's normal work schedules, unless Client contracts for premium work scheduling.

4.05 Completion date for this project will be negotiated pending contract signing and/or Client Purchase Order receipt by AT&T, and may depend on the manufacturer's ability to ship the necessary products.

4.06 This proposal assumes all material and /or equipment will be transported standard ground fashion. No air freight or expedite costs are included.

4.07 Any delays caused by outside parties (i.e., the Client, general contractor, electricians or contract vendors other than AT&T) will be documented and presented to the Point of Contact for resolution.

5.0 Existing Conditions

5.01 AT&T assumes there are no abnormal environmental or hazardous conditions on the Client's premise which would require extraordinary safety and/or regulatory functions, activities, permits or certifications for AT&T to perform the required work.

5.02 Unless specifically described otherwise in the Scope of Work, no provision has been made in this proposal for the removal, evacuation or disposal of Client-owned, obsolete cabling facilities or components. Compliance with local, state, and federal codes beyond the installation of the cabling system mentioned in this proposal, is the responsibility of Client.

5.03 AT&T assumes an existing TIA-607 compliant Building Ground System meeting local, state, and national electrical codes within each telecommunications room. Where bonding to this ground system is required, AT&T shall install a telecommunications grounding bus bar and #6 AWG ground conductor for bonding to the existing building grounding system. Where a building ground system is not installed, code or standards compliant, Client will be notified and given an opportunity to make appropriate corrections. Additional work performed by AT&T to provide code or standard compliance shall be at Client's expense.

5.04 AT&T does not guarantee Client's existing cable facilities.

Attachment B - Assumptions

6.0 Underground Construction where applicable

6.01 All restoration shall be seed, not full sod, with grass seed compatible or equal to existing turf conditions. AT&T reserves the right to seed at suitable times of the year to promote growth of the seeded areas.

6.02 Costs associated with underground construction are based on standard (clay/black-dirt) soil conditions assuming a clear and unobstructed pathway. If the any of the following conditions are encountered during construction, additional fees may apply (AT&T will deliver a separate, written proposal in the form of a Change Order which must be approved before any additional fees are incurred):

1) Rocky Soil - Soil containing rock to the point of substantially inhibiting the directional-boring process.

2) Solid Rock - Rock requiring trenching and/or jack hammering to facilitate the underground pathway placement.

3) Obstructions - Unforeseen debris left underground during previous construction (i.e. tanks, foundations, project debris, etc.) which requires obstruction removal or route modification.

4) Undisclosed Contaminated Soil - Soil containing one or more contaminants from an unintentional or intentional spilling, or a naturally occurring contaminant which requires removal or route modification.

Note - Client is solely responsible to identify contaminated soil conditions before construction. Should contaminated soil be encountered, AT&T will adhere to all rules and regulations governing the handling of such soil. Potential additional costs include special training and/or procedures required to handle soil as well as cartage/disposal of any contaminated soil that needs to be removed from the site.

6.03 AT&T assumes all existing manholes are equipped with racks, bonded, and grounded according to telecommunication industry standards. The proposal does not include bring existing facilities up to industry standards.

6.04 AT&T assumes no soil compaction testing is required.

6.05 AT&T assumes no soil erosion control is required.

6.06 AT&T assumes no de-watering (well points) are required.

Attachment A - Scope of Work

1.0 General / Project Overview

1.01 This proposal was prepared by Cindy Meloche, 248-423-5343, cm5782@att.com.

1.02 AT&T shall furnish and install materials associated with a structured cabling system at the State of Michigan facility at 630 S Saginaw in Flint, MI, providing a certified design and installation. This installation will be per the site evaluation and as further described below.

1.03 This proposal does not include installation during frozen ground conditions, or while State-imposed Frost Laws are in effect. Installation during such time would dramatically increase the pricing provided in this proposal.

1.04 There is no fiber cable included in this proposal.

1.05 There are no LAN Electronics included in this proposal.

2.0 Scope of Work - Entrance Facilities

2.01 External: n/a

2.02 Interior Extension: AT&T shall furnish and install fiber and copper patch cord connections from Smart Jack to Router.

2.03 Backboard, Power and Ground requirements. AT&T shall furnish and install:

Attachment A - Scope of Work

3.0 OSP Construction where applicable

3.01 All Sidewalks, streets, alleyways, gutters, façade, and landscaping items along the cable pathway and around the entrance facilities will be replaced to its original condition or better. AT&T reserves the right to replace sod, trees, and/or shrubbery during favorable times of the year to ensure growth of the replaced items. This will not preclude acceptance and payment of the project if substantial completion and operation of the network has been achieved.

3.02 Client and building owner must approve all penetrations into building structures, in writing, before commencement of work. All penetrations into building will be sealed around the conduits (sleeves) to help prevent water penetration or other material from intruding into structure from around the metal conduit sleeve.

3.03 AT&T shall place the conduit described above using directional boring as the primary method of installation. This is preferred due to the minimal impact upon the conduit route's environmental conditions. Directional boring techniques may reduce the restoration requirements of the project. Restoration efforts are directly affected by the utility density along the route and with the level of landscaping encountered along the parkways and around buildings.

3.04 AT&T shall place a portion of the conduit for this installation using open trenching methods. When trenching methods are utilized, during backfill activities, AT&T shall place a warning tape above the conduit to alert any future excavator of the presence of an underground facility. This Warning Tape will be placed approximately 18" below the existing ground surface. The tape may contain specific information about the owner of the facility, including contact information.

3.05 Prior to underground conduit placement operations, AT&T shall notify all utilities and agencies of the pending construction through a State-Approved One-Call service (MISS-DIG) as required by law. AT&T may elect to "pot-hole" the marked utilities for location verification.

Note: Delays by Member Utilities in locating facilities in the public right-of-way or on private property may effect the timeline of this project. These types of delays are outside the control of AT&T.

3.06 Any grade-mounted hand-holes will be constructed of a fiberglass-reinforced aggregate matrix bound with polymer resin or reinforced concrete. The hand-hole cover will be mounted flush with existing grade and constructed with a load rating of AASHTO H-20. All conduits entering or exiting hand-holes will be sealed to prevent the movement of water through the duct.

3.07 Excavated surface areas shall be restored to equal or better than their state prior to construction.

4.0 Rock Clause where applicable

4.01 An additional charge may apply if solid rock is encountered while directional boring. In the event solid rock is encountered, AT&T shall notify Client in writing prior to incursion of additional fees related to the rock.

Attachment A - Scope of Work

5.0 Quality of Work

5.01 AT&T's installation practices will be governed by EIA/TIA Telecommunications Building Wiring Standards, the BICSI Telecommunication Distribution Methods Manual and local building codes.

5.02 All work shall be done in accordance with the respective drawings, written specifications, supplemental information, industry standards, trade practice, and applicable regulatory agencies.

5.03 All work shall be performed by competent personnel and executed in a neat and workmanlike manner providing a thorough and complete installation.

5.04 Any work deemed inferior shall be reported to AT&T for immediate corrective action.

5.05 AT&T shall be responsible on a daily basis for cleanup and removal of all debris resulting from work performed by AT&T. Upon completion of the project, AT&T shall remove all tools, equipment, obstructions or debris present as a result of AT&T's portion of the overall project.

6.0 Schedule

6.01 AT&T's normal work schedule for this project shall be Monday - Friday, 8:00am - 5:00pm. Work beyond this schedule requires the approval of AT&T or overtime rates will be charged to the Customer via a Change Order.

6.02 Refer to the attached 'Assumptions' list for additional schedule information.

7.0 Installation Oversight

7.01 AT&T shall provide project management/coordination to monitor and control all technical and administrative support activities related to this SOW.

7.02 AT&T shall provide qualified on-site installation supervision.

8.0 Warranty

8.01 AT&T's proposal includes a 90-day labor warranty.

8.02 AT&T warrants that: (i) For a period of ninety (90) days following completion of the Project, Services provided will have been performed in a workmanlike manner and (ii) Any material provided will be free from defects for a period of ninety (90) days following completion of the project.

8.03 If AT&T responds to a Client's request for repairs during the warranty period and determines that the problem(s) is not covered by the contracted warranties, AT&T will invoice and Client agrees to pay AT&T a minimum two (2)-hour service charge (at AT&T's then current hourly rates).

8.04 All manufacturers' warranties that extend past the AT&T standard warranty period will be passed through to Client. Warranty issues outside the AT&T standard warranty period must be negotiated direct between Client and the Manufacturer.

9.0 Facility Damage

9.01 AT&T Risk Management Services is responsible for handling any damage claims occurring as a result of performing work, i.e. damaged voice and/or data hardware, broken ceiling tiles, damaged walls, scratched furniture, etc.

9.02 AT&T reserves the right to replace required items with suitable substitutes of the removed items. This will not preclude acceptance and payment of the project if substantial completion and operation of the network has been achieved.

Attachment A - Scope of Work

10.0 Changes to the Scope of Work

10.01 After the project begins AT&T will not perform any verbally-requested change orders. Any work not specifically outlined within this Scope of Work is deemed to be Out of Scope and subject to the Change Order process. AT&T has endeavored to provide accurate counts of equipment, cabling, etc. based on the information provided.

10.02 All Change Orders will be accepted in written form and approved by Client and AT&T prior to commencement of work on Change Order Requests.

Attachment B - Assumptions

1.0 General

1.01 For reference in this proposal only, State of Michigan shall be identified as Client.

1.02 Client agrees to all terms and conditions herein, including payment terms and the timely return of Client Acceptance Form(s) provided upon project completion.

1.03 AT&T liability arising out of or relating to the work described in this quote is limited to the amount paid to AT&T for this work.

1.04 This proposal is based on the completion of the entire scope of work. A reduction in the amount of work to be completed may increase the price of individual work functions.

1.05 If Client is not the property owner, then Client represents and warrants to AT&T that it has obtained any necessary approvals from the property and/or building owner for this project.

1.06 This proposal assumes there is no requirement for the payment of prevailing Wages, Davis Bacon Wages, Walsh-Healy wages, Contract Service Act Wages or any other predetermined or prevailing Wages or fringe benefits. In the event there is a requirement for the payment of specific wages and/or fringe benefits, the difference between such specific wages and / or benefits and the actual wages and / or benefits paid, plus AT&T's normal mark-up for overhead and profit shall be an extra to this proposal.

1.07 All new cable pathway structures (metallic conduit, duct, innerduct, pull-boxes, etc.) included in this proposal, even though installed exclusively to support installation of AT&T service-providing cable, shall be considered Client-owned.

1.08 Material pricing in this proposal represents "price in effect" at the time of purchase. Receipt of a Client Purchase Order will authorize AT&T to purchase the products required to complete the project as scheduled. AT&T reserves the right to adjust this proposal based on the cost of materials at the time Client provides a Purchase Order.

2.0 Exclusions

2.01 This proposal does not include any costs associated with third party/independent quality assurance or testing.

2.02 This proposal does not include bringing the existing facilities up to code.

2.03 This proposal does not include grounding and bonding of existing equipment, manholes or cabling.

2.04 This proposal does not include any power strips.

Attachment B - Assumptions

3.0 Client Responsibilities

3.01 AT&T will utilize the one call locate system (MISS-DIG) to have the existing public utilities located.

The Client, at the Client's expense, will locate private lines (water, sewer, power, sprinkler, coax, telephone, etc.).

A good locate is a mark within 18 inches of the actual underground facility (per American Public Works Association guidelines). AT&T is not responsible for damages that occur as a result of a miss-located or "not located" facility.

3.02 Client will be responsible for identifying all areas containing asbestos, lead paint, and /or other hazardous materials. Client will also be responsible for the removal and /or abatement of all hazardous materials and any associated costs.

3.03 Client will be responsible for identifying and additional costs associated with any Historical or environmental (endangered species, archeological sites/digs, etc.) issues.

3.04 Client is responsible for providing access to any buildings, equipment rooms, etc., necessary for AT&T to complete the required work. Client will provide adequate parking for AT&T equipment and employees at no additional cost to AT&T or its sub-contractors, for the duration of this project.

3.05 Client will provide a point of contact to interface with AT&T point of contact.

3.06 Client will provide access to all work areas during normal and after duty hours if required.

3.07 Client is responsible for providing adequate power and power access in locations where equipment is to be placed. If additional power is required it will be responsibility of Client.

3.08 Client is responsible for providing a safe, secure and lockable location for the storage of equipment and materials during the installation interval.

3.09 AT&T assumes that the regulated network circuit or circuits will be installed and tested, by the regulated utility company. This proposal is for the cable pathway only.

3.10 Client is responsible for all costs associated with permits, easements and / or right-of-ways. No such permits are anticipated for this project, however, in the event AT&T identifies the need for permits at any location, we shall advise the Client of the need and assist in permit application.

Attachment B - Assumptions

4.0 Schedule

4.01 AT&T's requires a minimum of 10 working days notice before the start of work.

4.02 AT&T installation charges indicated in this proposal are based on a construction interval as noted on the quotation sheet and/or Scope of Work. Client may be responsible for increased charges if additional labor or premium wages are required to achieve a shorter installation interval at Client's request. Client may be responsible for increased charges if additional labor or premium wages are required to maintain the contracted installation interval following Client delays.

4.03 Alterations or deviations, if any, from the above scope of work, or any delays or postponements of the work by the Client or it's agents which result in additional materials or labor costs, will become an extra charge which will be billed as an addition to this proposal amount. Any extra move on or off the job site due to circumstances beyond AT&T's control will be billed as an extra at hourly labor and equipment rates in effect at the time.

4.04 AT&T will perform this job in its entirety only and all work will be performed within AT&T's normal work schedules, unless Client contracts for premium work scheduling.

4.05 Completion date for this project will be negotiated pending contract signing and/or Client Purchase Order receipt by AT&T, and may depend on the manufacturer's ability to ship the necessary products.

4.06 This proposal assumes all material and /or equipment will be transported standard ground fashion. No air freight or expedite costs are included.

4.07 Any delays caused by outside parties (i.e., the Client, general contractor, electricians or contract vendors other than AT&T) will be documented and presented to the Point of Contact for resolution.

5.0 Existing Conditions

5.01 AT&T assumes there are no abnormal environmental or hazardous conditions on the Client's premise which would require extraordinary safety and/or regulatory functions, activities, permits or certifications for AT&T to perform the required work.

5.02 Unless specifically described otherwise in the Scope of Work, no provision has been made in this proposal for the removal, evacuation or disposal of Client-owned, obsolete cabling facilities or components. Compliance with local, state, and federal codes beyond the installation of the cabling system mentioned in this proposal, is the responsibility of Client.

5.03 AT&T assumes an existing TIA-607 compliant Building Ground System meeting local, state, and national electrical codes within each telecommunications room. Where bonding to this ground system is required, AT&T shall install a telecommunications grounding bus bar and #6 AWG ground conductor for bonding to the existing building grounding system. Where a building ground system is not installed, code or standards compliant, Client will be notified and given an opportunity to make appropriate corrections. Additional work performed by AT&T to provide code or standard compliance shall be at Client's expense.

5.04 AT&T does not guarantee Client's existing cable facilities.

Attachment B - Assumptions

6.0 Underground Construction where applicable

6.01 All restoration shall be seed, not full sod, with grass seed compatible or equal to existing turf conditions. AT&T reserves the right to seed at suitable times of the year to promote growth of the seeded areas.

6.02 Costs associated with underground construction are based on standard (clay/black-dirt) soil conditions assuming a clear and unobstructed pathway. If the any of the following conditions are encountered during construction, additional fees may apply (AT&T will deliver a separate, written proposal in the form of a Change Order which must be approved before any additional fees are incurred):

1) Rocky Soil - Soil containing rock to the point of substantially inhibiting the directional-boring process.

2) Solid Rock - Rock requiring trenching and/or jack hammering to facilitate the underground pathway placement.

3) Obstructions - Unforeseen debris left underground during previous construction (i.e. tanks, foundations, project debris, etc.) which requires obstruction removal or route modification.

4) Undisclosed Contaminated Soil - Soil containing one or more contaminants from an unintentional or intentional spilling, or a naturally occurring contaminant which requires removal or route modification.

Note - Client is solely responsible to identify contaminated soil conditions before construction. Should contaminated soil be encountered, AT&T will adhere to all rules and regulations governing the handling of such soil. Potential additional costs include special training and/or procedures required to handle soil as well as cartage/disposal of any contaminated soil that needs to be removed from the site.

6.03 AT&T assumes all existing manholes are equipped with racks, bonded, and grounded according to telecommunication industry standards. The proposal does not include bring existing facilities up to industry standards.

6.04 AT&T assumes no soil compaction testing is required.

6.05 AT&T assumes no soil erosion control is required.

6.06 AT&T assumes no de-watering (well points) are required.

Why Detroit's new school leadership won't much matter

22 January 2015

by Chastity Pratt Dawsey
Bridge Magazine

Detroit saw three sweeping governance changes to the Detroit Public Schools' power structure in the past decade. And last week, DPS got its 10th leader since 1999 with the appointment of yet another emergency manager, Darnell Earley. At least one more idea for changing the chain of command is currently on the table.

Through several leadership changes and emergency manager appointments over nearly two decades, Detroit students continue to lag behind students at other big-city schools.

The ongoing search for the best leadership hierarchy for Detroit's schools is an important conversation.

And an ineffective one.

Michigan is having the wrong discussion regarding Detroit's public schools, experts and teachers say. When it comes to Detroit schools, arguably the worst in the nation, the current conversation needs to center around implementing educational strategies that work in the classroom, rather than another round of arguments over who should be in charge, these school experts say.

Continuously low test scores and student enrollment declines have shown that changing the governance model – shifting control from an elected school board to mayoral or state oversight – has done virtually nothing to improve the schools in Detroit. After nearly two decades of state interventions, Detroit's troubled school district has been transformed into three school systems, all with their own challenges – DPS, a large and growing network of charter schools, and the Education Achievement Authority, the statewide reform district that operates 15 low-performing schools in the city.

"I don't think a governance fix is what's going to fix Detroit's schools," said Tonya Allen, president and CEO of the Skillman Foundation and co-chair of the newly created Coalition for the Future of Detroit Schoolchildren. The coalition includes local leaders and educators and formed in December with a 90-day mission to make recommendations on Detroit schools to the mayor, governor and legislature about school governance, finance and academic expectations.

Tonya Allen

"Many things work. Our biggest barrier is stability," Allen said. "We haven't stuck with anything. But it's difficult to do any reforms when you have screwed up governance."

Change change again

Excellent Schools Detroit, an advocacy group with a representative on the coalition, has suggested that Mayor Mike Duggan be involved in creating a portfolio system in Detroit that would give the mayor control over key operations such as transportation and enrollment in Detroit, for DPS, the EAA and charters.

But Duggan has declined to say publicly whether he wants control over the schools, to play a significant role or remain on the sideline. Perhaps in a show of the power being invested in the coalition, his office referred questions about the future of Detroit school reform to Allen.

Any power structure change that the coalition, state legislature and governor's office is contemplating for Detroit's schools is, at best, another opportunity to do something sustainable to improve education, studies show. But that power change – as with any governance structure – has little impact on learning unless accompanied by rigorous, proven educational methods.

For instance, reseachers at the Institute on Educational Law and Policy at Rutgers University in Newark studied governance models in nine cities, including Detroit, through 2010. The researchers were unable to conclusively tie any specific form of governance to improved student achievement, concluding that quality reforms in the classroom impact achievement regardless of the governance model.

Improvement is possible in low-achieving schools. The 2014 Bridge series, "The Smartest Kids in the Nation" illustrated how schools in Massachusetts, Tennessee, Florida and Minnesota have catapulted past Michigan academically or made huge academic gains on the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) test, also known as the Nation's Report Card.

The series showed how sustained, evidence-based policies, such as high academic standards, extensive early childhood education programs and higher investment in low-income, low-achieving urban schools can reap rewards.

In Detroit, a majority of students now attend charter schools, which on average achieve at about the same rate as the traditional public schools.

Tom Watkins was the state superintendent and, by law, a member of the reform Detroit school board in the years following the watershed 1999 state takeover of DPS. During those six years, scores on the state standardized MEAP test inched up growth, but was not sustained. Since then, Detroit students' scores on the NAEP have remained the worst among 21 large urban cities since the state appointed the first of four emergency managers for DPS in 2009.

Tom Watkins

If the adults at the table – from educators to the coalition, mayor, legislature and governor – are not focusing on the core issues of teaching and learning strategies, they're not talking about improving schools, Watkins said. Improving Detroit's schools is not about who's in charge, said Watkins, now president and CEO of the Detroit Wayne Mental Health Authority.

"We're close to two decades in with Detroit," Watkins said. "Would anyone say we've stopped the hemorrhaging? It's a lot easier to balance the books. It's hard to educate children. Real change is required.

"I have faith the recommendations that come down from the coalition will be an educational grand bargain and that maybe the emergency manager is a temporary fix that's a prelude to hopefully a long term solution that puts teaching, learning and children over power, politics, control and adults."

Here, there everywhere

The Rutgers study,"Governance and Urban School Improvement: Lessons for New Jersey From Nine Cities," examined school reforms in Baltimore, Boston, Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit, Hartford, New York, Philadelphia, and Washington, D.C. The researchers concluded that "effective governance is necessary, but not sufficient, to move school reform." Researchers found the adoption of a new governance model brought a higher level of public commitment to education, more public and private funding, "and more attention to successes."

But not necessarily better schools.

Urban areas such as Detroit need to concentrate on what is generally known about school reform – that it requires effective strategies at the building level, "strong leadership by the principal; the recruitment, retention and support of high quality teachers and administrators; as well as addressing the myriad problems outside of the schools related to poverty and its effects are also vital to urban school improvement," the research found.

Still, Michigan has tried over and over again to change the governance of DPS, espousing the changes as a solution to power struggles, inept leadership and financial difficulties as well as the precursor to improved achievement.

In 1999, the state legislature passed the Michigan School Reform Act that replaced the elected Detroit school board with a board that was appointed by the mayor and included the state superintendent (or a designee).

The law gave Detroit residents the opportunity to vote to return to an elected board after five years. By 2005, the state-run DPS overspent the budget by $200 million, and resolved it with a bond to avoid deficit. Detroiters did vote to turn the schools back over to an elected board. A new elected school board was seated in 2006 and selected a new superintendent in 2007 – Connie Calloway, a leader from the tiny school district of Normandy, Missouri.

A deficit began to accrue again, fueled by a historic student enrollment decline and school closures. That deficit climbed to more than $300 million by 2009. And in a third governance structure change in a decade, Gov. Jennifer Granholm appointed the first emergency financial manager to take power over the budget from the elected board.

Every few years as the leadership and governance structure have changed, so have classroom reforms – reading programs have come and gone, after school tutoring programs came and went. Now community partnerships that bring social services into buildings along with after-school sports, art and music is the reform de jour.

A new chief

Last week, Gov. Rick Snyder appointed Darnell Earley, former emergency manager in Flint, to be the fourth emergency manager over DPS. He, too, said finding ways to improve achievement will be key.

Darnell Earley

On the heels of that appointment, state Rep. Sherry Gay-Dagnogo (D-Detroit) led a delegation of state legislators on a tour of Detroit schools. A former DPS teacher, she said teachers and students showed off new improvements in instruction.

Gay-Dagnogo, who is on the Coalition for the Future of Detroit Schoolchildren and favors an elected school board form of leadership, said improving education will come when academic policy aligns with leadership decisions.

"The primary things we're aiming at are academic solutions," she said. "Those have to be afforded by finances and governance that allow those to be put in place. None of these conversations are mutually exclusive."

Gay-Dagnogo, who is on the Coalition for the Future of Detroit Schoolchildren, said the next chapter for schooling in Detroit must be to rally around specific best teaching practices.

Sherry Gay-Dagnogo

If school improvement in Detroit is a chicken-or-egg debate – what needs to change first, governance or classroom practices? – schooling should take priority in the discussion, said Stephanie Griffin, one of two classroom teachers on the 31-member coalition.

A 10-year veteran, Griffin teaches at Brenda Scott Academy, an EAA school and has taught in charters. In her view: students need to learn to read by third grade; the same rigorous content should be used in all schools, and school leaders need to solicit input from teachers and also reduce and cap the amount of time spent on standardized tests.

"Solving every problem in education in Detroit? I don't think that's what our goal is – we're more realistic than that," Griffin said of the coalition's work. "Our main concern is improving education for the children of Detroit. That's what needs to finally happen."

Entrenched poverty with all of the social ills attached to that is the main reason Detroit schools have been a failure, multiple changes in management structures at the top will not solve anything.

What really accounts for low performance in Detroit schools? What role does poverty play? Are there other factors? Shouldn't the city try to find the answers to these questions?

Donna,
Your questions seem more likely to uncover problems that can be addressed. Commonly when people make a board statement about what is causing any problem they make the problem appear insurmountable and discourage efforts to solve the root causes.
I wish we there were a reader conversation starting with your questions.

It's disappointing that you would link to the Detroit Free Press' biased anti-charter report as "evidence" that charter schools don't outperform traditional schools. In fact, research shows the opposite to be true. Let's look at the facts as we seek to raise the level of education in Detroit. And the facts are that charter schools ARE doing things better. http://www.annarbor.com/news/study-michigan-charter-school-students-out-learning-their-peers-at-traditional-districts/

The article you posted to support the alleged success of charter schools is based heavily on a CREDO study. CREDO is funded by the Walton Family Foundation, which spent "more than $164 million in 2013 to promote its corporate-influenced education reform agenda in 2013" (http://www.washingtonpost.com/blogs/answer-sheet/wp/2014/04/02/walton-foundations-pours-164-million-in-2013-education-grants-who-won/). CREDO isn't exactly unbiased. There is evidence to support that the CREDO report isn't all it's cracked up to be. The Rutgers study…examined school reforms in Baltimore, Boston, Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit, Hartford, New York, Philadelphia, and Washington, D.C. ….

So what have we done on "recruiting, retaining and supporting high quality teachers and administrators" in Detroit? Cut pay. Cut benefits. Cut staffing. Every single person engaged in education knows these are not ways to get the best and brightest to take on the toughest job in education today. But the political leadership and public focus only on one thing…balancing the budget, even though it clearly has inadequate resources. Even the governor recognized this, trying to raise millions to pile on top of the state student support for the EAA. Until we do what is needed to get the best educators on the ground in Detroit, we won't move the needle.

Cass Tech is a remarkable school. Wayne State is a wonderful University.
Why is that?
The Charter School Model is serving children better than traditional Public Schools – at least that's what the children and the parents say. (Several studies too, but they are unfortunately engaged in the battle of the "studies" driven by a fraudulent "accountability " mania).
Why is that?
To varying degrees each of the above examples has some autonomy to chart its' own learning journey, a journey aligned with and relevant to the individual child that recognizes the child's life context. Children, teachers and local administrators working toward a mutually beneficial, continually improving learning journey, over time, seeking support and guidence on their terms using public money to produce remarkable results.
Notice what's missing?
Now imagine what might happen if we could honor these examples, observe and emulate what they do framed by local circumstance and make the "missing" part jsut disappear everywhere.

"The Charter School Model is serving children better than traditional Public Schools – at least that's what the children and the parents say."
Sounds like classic cognitive dissonance, a la "Congress sucks, but MY representative is fantastic!" and "Public schools are terrible, but MY district is just fine." Rare is the parent who is willing to say, "I switched my kids to charter schools, and boy, did I screw up with THAT decision!."

The Census Bureau's 2013 American Community Survey reported that 59% of children under 18 in Detroit lived in impoverished households. Only Flint (69%) and Rochester, NY (60%) had higher rates of child poverty.
Let's hope that Governor Snyder can effectively reform state supported schools in Detroit. The largest current demographic trend in the state is the migration of African Americans from Detroit to the suburbs. I suspect that is driven, in large part, by perceptions of the quality of state supported schools in Detroit.
I hope the Governor and legislature will address the issue of the very elevated rate of childhood poverty in Michigan. 34 states have lower rates of childhood poverty than Michigan.

The creation of Charter schools in Detroit did not help. It took funds from a financially strapped district and spread them over more schools while leaving the overhead of DPS unchanged.
The schools in Detroit can excel however a key ingredient, money, was needlessly given away under the clity'so bankruptcy and it will be difficult to replace….http://lstrn.us/1osgaee

The author is on target. The agenda that adults always seem focused upon (public vs. charter vs. private; class sizes; union vs. non-union; per pupil expenditures) has little and sometimes nothing to do with the academic performance of students. Most variation across districts in academic performance is explained by variation in the SES of the district. Still, low SES is no excuse for what happens in school districts that perform more poorly than would be expected based upon their SES (e.g., Detroit Public Schools). The Rutgers Study should have useful ideas. Some years ago Professor Ken Meier gave a talk at WSU based upon his research and identified five school district level/school level factors associated with improvements in academic performance: (1) stable and competent administration; (2) parental involvement; (3) high academic standards; (4) hard work; and (5) stable curriculum. Other likely factors include (6) capable, experienced, and dedicated principals and teachers; (7) sufficient learning materials; (8) good nutrition; (9) a non-toxic home environment (no paint chips or water with lead). The author also mentions early childhood education.

Good article, I hope that all the research articles and talking to other school districts would make a difference in what the committee is going to do. it is so true that focusing on the leadership and not focusing on leadership and academics at the same time has not made a difference. Our teachers in the class are trying so hard to make a difference. It is so difficult to work with students who are so far behind.I wish the committee could go to different schools and really see what's going on in that classroom how hard teachers are working under conditions that no one should have to work under. Our teachers and principals are doing a job that should be recognized. I hope this committee will come up with strategies that will actually help our young people in the classroom.

That sure was huge de rigueur passel of poop rife with bundles of bafflegab fashion speak, generalities, glosses, inanities and zany generalities that never once looked at the curriculum but simply dealt with the horrors without calling it that and never "getting down to busiess." How many words were in that demoralizing and undermining essay?
Visiting King and the PTA last week all they could talk about was the "Core Curriculum" looking it up you simply got more bafflegab and glorious generalities.

This has gotten so damned disgusting that it's no wonder that the kids are performing poorly because that is what's being delivered by the adults.
So Disgusting… and they have included John Rakolta in the consortium… HOW DAMNED DUMB CAN YOU GET?

As an educator, it has become almost impossible to stay positive as it concerns DPS. You show me a bad teacher, and I will show you a bad administrator. Detroit Public School is filled with African American females in Stilettos, who do not know what is going on in their own building. How many of these principals don't even bother to read the teacher's lesson plans and actually walk-throughs to see first hand what is going on in the classroom. Instead, they build these small, I call them hate groups, that only allow "certain" teachers in. So why if all of the teachers at a school are "highly qualified" aren't the students performing at least grade level? Detroit's problem is "cronyism." It has never been eradicated. If the superintendents evaluated the principals like they should, then the principals helped, assisted, and supported their teachers then Detroit Public Schools would not be the waste land that is has become. These kids deserve to have the successes that all other students are afforded. But, we must take a hard look at ourselves, (man in the mirror) and cast the blame where it belongs within our own rank and file.

I completely agree with you, however it's not just the building administrators but the administrators above them also. It is disappointing to see how many administrators still have job, when they have no idea what they are doing, don't care about current research, etc. It is my opinion based on my own observations, that many of the administrators and unfortunately primarily the African American women in Stilettos, are on a major power trip. The mentality seems to be that because they are in a position of power, whatever they say to do, whether it makes sense or not, whether it is for the good of the children or not, it better be done, no questions asked. If you question their motives or express concerns about whether is it good for the children, etc., watch out because now you are a target when it comes time for evaluations. It is never about the good of the children in a school, I when the principal is on a power trip. It's all about the principal. Principal's like that, do not know how to work as a team with the teachers and parents.
Teachers, parents, and even students (students in upper grades) should be allowed to have some kind of input when it comes to the evaluations of administrators. Unfortunately, teacher evaluations (although they are supposed to be objective) are still very subjective and can be manipulated by administrators. There should be some way that parents, students, and teachers are able to share their observations (maybe in the form anonomys surveys) of the building principals. Principals' administrators should have information from the people that he/she is directly involved with on a daily basis. Obviously, there will always be some evaluations that come from angry parents, teachers, and students, as well as evaluations that are on the other extreme. Typically, the truth lies somewhere in the middle. My point, is that the information from parents, teachers, and students, should also be considered in the evaluation of building administrators.
Teachers should also be permitted to evaluate their department supervisors right to the top administrators within the department that they are directly working under. There are situations where teachers are teaching in a building under the building administrator, but they are also under a specific department, because the teachers must have specific credentials in order to teach certain groups of children. Teachers observations of their supervisors and administrators should also be considered in those evaluations for the reasons mentioned above.
Unfortunately, I don't know how the district could go about accomplishing this, as it would probably be a logistical and financial nightmare. One can always hope… The children need good teachers, administrators, and district personnel. Does anyone know if this has been tried in any other districts?

This writer deserves an award for recognizing and writing about the real problems. After years of having Emergency Managers' educational experiments and financial failures, we should have learned that hiring another EM is a mistake. Use his salary toward the DPS budget deficit. We need to provide the students of Detroit with excellence in education. We can't afford another failed educational experiment and financial failure.

Concerns about racism help drive more African-Americans to home-school; heading into 2016, DPS drowning in debt; and Oakland County area education officials reviewing M-STEP results.

Michigan Radio: Concerns about racism help drive more African-Americans to home-school

On a quiet street in Detroit, light pours in the back windows of the Kirksey home. It falls on a wall of textbooks, puzzles and multi-cultural children's books.

Brandon, who is 7 years old, is sprawled out on the wood floor examining a laminated world map.

“Michigan,” Brandon says, pointing enthusiastically to his home state. His 3-year-old brother, Zachary, tries to echo him. Their mother, Camille Kirksey, coaches Zachary on the correct pronunciation.

This might seem like a classic weekend scene, but it’s a weekday scene. That’s because this isn’t just a family home, it’s also a tiny school. A school for one. For Brandon.

Brandon's two younger siblings, Zachary and 10-month-old Ariyah, tag along for the fun.

For three years, Camille Kirksey has home schooled her children. They are part of a growing number of African-American families choosing to home-school.

In the U.S., home-schooling is one of the fastest growing forms of education. The number of kids in charter schools and the number of kids being home-schooled are comparable. Each hovers around 2 million.

Michigan Radio: Heading into 2016, Detroit Public Schools drowning in debt

Public schools in Detroit are looking at a rough year ahead.

Debt payments for Detroit Public Schools are already the highest of any school district in the state, but things are going to get even more dire next month.

Chad Livengood of The Detroit News' Lansing Bureau tells us that DPS will owe $26 million every month through 2016 to pay back this year's operating debts, as well as debts carried over from previous years.

He explains that like many districts around the state, DPS borrows money at the beginning of the school year "for cash flow purposes."

Oakland Press: Area education officials reviewing M-STEP results

As area superintendents review results of the state's new standardized test of academic progress, the weight of the assessments themselves is being graded.

The Every Student Succeeds Act, which President Barack Obama signed in December, gives states more power to decide how to address schools whose students perform poorly on standardized tests.

The new legislation, which replaced the No Child Left Behind Law, encourages states to limit the time students spend taking tests.

ESSA was approved just months after the state implemented a new standardized test, the Michigan State Test of Educational Progress. M-STEP replaced the Michigan Educational Assessment Program, which had been used for more than 40 years.

"I'm hoping that, as a society, we can be less reliant on standardized tests. They don't define kids," said Ken Gutman, superintendent of the Walled Lake Consolidated Schools and president of the Oakland County Superintendents' Association.

Midland Daily News: Op-Ed: School privatization survey: Michigan rates increase again

Michael LaFaive is the director of the Morey Fiscal Policy Initiative and Philip Schlosser is a research assistant at the Mackinac Center for Public Policy, a research and educational institute headquartered in Midland.

The rate at which Michigan schools contract out for noninstructional services increased again last school year, this time to 70.8 percent of all conventional public school districts in the state. This is up from 66.6 percent in 2014. The use of competitive contracting for noninstructional services overall has increased in each of the 12 Michigan-specific surveys conducted by the Mackinac Center since its first survey in 2001.

This year, the Mackinac Center expanded its survey research to include the states of Texas, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Georgia, the better to watch for national trends in contracting. Done correctly, competitive bidding of noncore services can yield big savings, alleviate management headaches and free up precious time and money for the classroom.

Growth in Michigan districts' use of competitive contracting for the big three noninstructional services has been robust. In 2001, our first survey found that 31 percent of districts were contracting out food, custodial or transportation services. This year, more than 70 percent do - a 128.5 percent increase in just 14 years.

Of Michigan's 542 conventional school districts. 144 or 26.6 percent contract out for transportation services. That is up from 3.9 percent in 2003. Custodial service contracting is also up dramatically since our first survey. Our latest survey indicates that 283 districts — 52.2 percent of the total — contract out for custodial services. This is up from just 6.6 percent in 2003. Food service contracting ranging in at 42.8 percent of all districts.

Battle Creek Enquirer: Top 5 stories of the year: A tumultuous 2015 for BCPS

This year, Battle Creek Public Schools faced one shake-up after another.

Parents, teachers and other community members watched last winter as the district examined which elementary schools to close in light of an anticipated budget shortfall and declining enrollment. Then-Superintendent Linda Hicks recommended that LaMora Park and Coburn be closed, aligning with a report from consultants.

The Board of Education voted in May to close Coburn, but rejected the closing of LaMora Park.

Two months later, Hicks resigned from the district to pursue "other professional opportunities," as board President Todd Stagner described it in a surprise announcement at a July board meeting.

MIRS: Task Force Will Look Into EM's Role In Flint Water Crisis

Having flagged the Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) for mishandling the Flint water contamination problem, the Governor's special task force charged with studying the issue will next move onto other issues, including a review of the emergency manager's (EM) role, MIRS has learned.

Since December 2011, four EMs have had operational control over the cash-strapped city of Flint, including Michael BROWN, Ed Kurtz, Darnell Earley, and Jerry Ambrose.

The last three reportedly had various roles in moving the city from a Detroit-based water supply to one from the Flint River, which set into motion the current lead contamination public health questions.

A source explained it was Kurtz who presided over the first decision to make the switch. Earley implemented the decision and Ambrose had an opportunity to revise the decision, but did not.

In January 2015, Ambrose told reporters, "Detroit is not in our plans at this time," although he did say the Detroit option had "not been ruled out." Nine months after that statement, in October, the switch was made with state tax dollars to pay for it (See "Snyder Signs Funding Bill For Flint Water Switch," 10/15/15).

During an October interview with MIRS, Earley was asked about his role in all this and he asserted that the decision was "already in place when I got there." He described the changeover as a "local decision" and "It was my responsibility to oversee the decision that had been made" (See "Earley Declares Clean Hands On Flint Water Decision," 10/27/15).

Gongwer: Muchmore To Head Up Government Affairs At Honigman Firm (stories also ran in MIRS; LSJ, 6A, above fold; Freep, 7A, above fold; and DetNews, 3A, above fold)

Dennis Muchmore, Governor Rick Snyder's outgoing chief of staff, will head up the government relations and regulatory practice at the Honigman, Miller, Schwartz and Cohn law firm starting in February.

Mr. Muchmore had said last year he planned to depart the administration in 2016, and months ago Mr. Snyder named Jarrod Agen to become his new chief of staff upon Mr. Muchmore's departure.

"It's been an honor to serve with Governor Snyder as we've worked to make Michigan the Comeback State," Mr. Muchmore said in a statement circulated by the Honigman firm. "I'm just as excited to enter this next phase with Honigman. Just as there were people who guided me along the way in my career, I see this as an opportunity to give back and help others prepare to do great things."

EdWeek: Will States Swap Standards-Based Tests for SAT, ACT?

High school testing is on the brink of a profound shift, as states increasingly choose college-entrance exams to measure achievement. The new federal education law invites that change, but it comes with some big caution signs and unanswered questions.

The questions are hanging over a provision of the Every Student Succeeds Act that lets states measure high school achievement with college-entrance exams instead of standards-based assessments.

If many states make that change, it would represent an important national shift in the meaning of high school testing, assessment experts say.

That's because most states' current tests are based on their academic standards and are built to measure mastery of those standards. Moving to a college-entrance exam such as the SAT or ACT, which are designed to predict the likelihood of students' success in college, would mean that states had chosen instead to measure college readiness.

"It's a really big shift," said Wayne Camara, who helped design the SAT and oversaw research at the College Board for two decades before taking a similar post at ACT in 2014. "States need to think about what they want their accountability system to measure and choose the test best suited for that. Ultimately, it's a judgment. It depends on what you value most."

Many states offer or require the SAT or ACT statewide as a way to get students thinking about, and applying to, college. But few use those tests for the accountability reports that are required by federal law.

Seven states have won permission from the U.S. Department of Education to use SAT or ACT for federal accountability. But a spokeswoman for the department said the states still must present evidence, through the peer-review process, that the exams are valid for that purpose. Colorado, Connecticut, Maine, and New Hampshire won approval to use the SAT for federal accountability, and Arkansas, Wisconsin, and Wyoming got the nod to use the ACT that way.

New York Times: New Rules to Eliminate Frustrating Financial Aid Problem

Applying early is important because some states have early grant deadlines, and some distribute aid on a first-come, first-served basis, Ms. Asher said. So waiting may mean students will miss out.

Although filing the form in early January is ideal, not all families are ready to do so. The form requires filers to use information from their federal income tax return from the calendar year that just ended — so, January filers would use information from 2015. But most people will not receive their W-2 forms and other information necessary to file a 2015 tax return until later in January, at the earliest.

This is the last year filers will face this situation. Starting in 2016, changes to FAFSA rules will eliminate this frustrating timing problem. The form for the 2017-18 academic year can be filed as early as Oct. 1, 2016, and will rely on income tax information from the previous tax year (or, in financial aid lingo, “prior-prior” year tax information). So next year, students will file two FAFSAs — each using 2015 tax information.

In the meantime, families who want to file in early January 2016, before they have filed their 2015 income tax return, can complete the FAFSA with estimated financial data. That will get their application in the system, and they can update it, if needed, when they actually file their return, “without losing your place in line,” said Martha Holler, a spokeswoman for Sallie Mae.

Washington Post: Eight education predictions (and some wishful thinking) for 2016 — a teacher's list

A new year is approaching, and most of us always optimistic educators will approach it with gobs of hope, along with some realistic trepidation. Here are some predictions for the coming year – not listed in any particular order.

1.Public employee unions, including teachers associations (and the students, families and communities we support), will dodge a bullet that would eviscerate them when the U.S. Supreme Court refuses to support plaintiffs in the Freidrichs case. Unions will win on a deciding vote by – of all people – Justice Scalia.

2.Hillary Clinton will win the U.S. presidential election and begin pushing a very different education agenda from the one pushed by President Obama. She will act on her stated opposition to the use of test scores in teacher evaluations and on her reservations about charter schools. And her first step in that direction will be appointing a secretary of education with similar beliefs. That person will be....I have no idea, and it doesn't sound like many others have a clue, either. Many of the names I've heard so far sound great, but seem to fall into the category of "wishful thinking" – Deborah Meier, Linda Darling-Hammond, Pedro Noguera. However, perhaps some of those educators have a better shot than I might think. Martin O'Malley has also been mentioned, though I would think his attacks on Clinton rule him out as a potential appointee.. Who do you think would be on Clinton's short list?

3.The new Chan Zuckerberg Initiative will surprise many of us educators by making initial grant-making that actually supports efforts that agrees with many of our positions. This will be helped by the fact their new chief of staff actually is a former teacher (albeit for one year).

4.The transition from the old No Child Left Behind law to the new Every Student Succeeds Act will quickly turn into a free-for-all, with an "every state for themselves" mentality reigning. Few are going to pay attention to a fairly toothless lame-duck Department of Education, and most states will move to present the new administration with a fait accompli in 2017. To many people's surprises, the vast majority of states will come up with fairly decent plans and strategies for implementation.

New York Times: As Graduation Rates Rise, Experts Fear Diplomas Come Up Short

GREENVILLE, S.C. — A sign in a classroom here at Berea High School, northwest of downtown in the largest urban district in the state, sends this powerful message: "Failure Is Not an Option. You Will Pass. You Will Learn. You Will Succeed."

By one measure, Berea, with more than 1,000 pupils, is helping more students succeed than ever: The graduation rate, below 65 percent just four years ago, has jumped to more than 80 percent.

But that does not necessarily mean that all of Berea's graduates, many of whom come from poor families, are ready for college — or even for the working world. According to college entrance exams administered to every 11th grader in the state last spring, only one in 10 Berea students were ready for college-level work in reading, and about one in 14 were ready for entry-level college math. And on a separate test of skills needed to succeed in most jobs, little more than half of the students demonstrated that they could handle the math they would need.

It is a pattern repeated in other school districts across the state and country — urban, suburban and rural — where the number of students earning high school diplomas has risen to historic peaks, yet measures of academic readiness for college or jobs are much lower. This has led educators to question the real value of a high school diploma and whether graduation requirements are too easy.

http://www.nytimes.com/2015/12/27/us/as-graduation-rates-rise-experts-fear-standards-have-fallen.html?ref=education&_r=0&utm_source=010416_StudentandEducator&utm_campaign=Monday%2C+12.14.15&utm_medium=email

New York Times: Editorial: The Counterfeit High School Diploma

Teachers unions and other critics of federally required standardized tests have behaved in recent years as though killing the testing mandate would magically remedy everything that ails education in the United States. In reality, getting rid of the testing requirement in the early grades would make it impossible for the country to know what if anything children were learning from year to year.

Congress understood this fundamental point, and kept the testing requirement, when it reauthorized the No Child Left Behind Act — now called the Every Student Succeeds Act — last month. But lawmakers ducked the most important problem: the fact that most states still have weak curriculums and graduation requirements that make high school diplomas useless and that leave graduates unprepared for college, the job market or even meeting entry requirements for the Army.

The costs associated with this problem are demonstrated in a recent report by Motoko Rich in The Times, which focused on Berea High School in Greenville, S.C., where the graduation rate has risen to 80 percent, from under 65 percent just four years ago. But college entrance exams given to 11th graders last year showed that only one in 10 students was ready for college-level reading and only about one in 14 was prepared for entry-level college math. On a separate job skills test, only about half of students demonstrated the math proficiency needed to succeed at most jobs.

With results like that, it's no wonder some South Carolina business leaders are worried that the state is producing high school graduates who are not qualified to compete for higher-skilled jobs at companies like Boeing, Volvo and BMW.

Atlantic: The Rise of Urban Public Boarding Schools

WASHINGTON—The founding Monument Academy teachers and staff knew that running a 24-hour school for children who've survived trauma and violence would be difficult.

They just didn't know how difficult.

"It was chaotic," said Emily Bloomfield, the school's founder and CEO, recalling the first few weeks of class last summer. "There was a lot of fighting ... a lot of cursing, a lot of running around."

The 40 fifth-graders who started in August at this unusual new charter school in northeast Washington include children in foster care or at risk of entering the foster-care system. Some live in homeless shelters. Some have seen or experienced domestic violence or abuse. Some have grieved painful losses. And some have changed schools or been suspended or expelled so many times that they're significantly behind their peers, both academically and emotionally.

That means students as old as 12 are reading at a kindergarten or first-grade level or exhibiting behaviors like thumb-sucking that are typically seen in much younger children.

When the students moved into their new "home," their fragile emotions collided, staffers said.

"They fed off each other," Bloomfield recalled. "There were a couple of kids who were really in crisis and when you have a child in crisis, and by that I mean, really, totally unregulated, melting down, behaving very dangerously, it's a trigger for many other kids and their anxiety level goes up and their behavior goes up."

MIRS BREAKING NEWS: Gov: Bureaucrats Didn't Use Common Sense -- 2:56 p.m.

http://www.mirsnews.com/alert.php?alert_id=2171

Eight hours before his self-described most important State of the State message of his career, Gov. Rick SNYDER did the traditional walk through the House chambers, but before that he spoke exclusively with MIRS about the Flint water crisis, which provides a controversial backdrop for his speech.

The Governor did not confirm this, but he is expected to recommend an initial state appropriations of about $20 million as a down payment on state assistance for dealing with the Flint lead-water contamination problem. In addition, he is expected to embrace the release of his emails connected to his administration's handling of the crisis.

He is taking full responsibility for the "mistakes" explaining, "Anytime you have people working for you, you have to take responsibility. When you look in hindsight, there were activities going on and mistakes made. I wish I would have known about sooner so you take responsibility."

Asked if there was any criminal wrongdoing associated with the handling of this matter as some Democrats have suggested, Snyder rejected that out of hand saying, "I haven't learned of anything that reflects that at all. I don't think anyone was doing anything out of malice."

He explains that "people in the organization" may have been too technical, too literal and may have been "following the manual of activities rather than asking tougher questions and using common sense." He also recalled the "tone" of the state's initial response "wasn't right in some cases in communicating with our customers."

Democrats counters that state residents are not customers but citizens and they have certain rights.

Michigan Democratic Party (MDP) Chair Brandon DILLON said during a morning press conference that the Governor was "incompetent" in dealing with the Flint situation. When Snyder was asked about that, he offered, "You can say there were real challenges and many people would apply that word."

Asked if he was one of those, he added, "I'm not jumping to conclusions because I'm staying focused on the solution now."

Senate Minority Leader Jim ANANICH (D-Flint) also wants solutions, but he tells MIRS this morning that the administration had three major problems.

1. A lack of accountability. 2. A lack of honesty. 3. A lack of urgency," which the Governor should tackle in the speech. Asked if the citizens have lost trust in the Governor he quickly suggested, "Without question and I think he knows that. It's real and it's something that is going to take a long time, if ever, for the people of Flint to trust state government. They probably never will trust him."

Senate Majority Leader Arlan MEEKHOF (R-West Olive), after being briefed by the Governor during a closed-door caucus today, suggested, "I understand anger. I understand people want justice, but the people of Flint can't drink justice. They need clean water."

Asked if he believes the Governor made mistakes, he suggested, "There are plenty of people looking for blame, but the people of Flint need clean water" and he pledged Senate support in providing that.

Before entering the chambers, Snyder explained that tonight's address is not a "traditional State of the State. This (one) is to take on a really tough issue that deserves a discussion in front of the state."

MIRS has learned that for the first time in five addresses, the Governor will use written remarks rather than outline he typically speaks from. It's also been learned that the Rev. Jessie JACKSON, the national civil rights advocate, will be on the House floor as the personal guest of Rep. Brian BANKS (D-Harper Woods).

Subject: Sample Storage Space

Neal – Based on our phone conversation, I'm looking for storage/warehouse space for a potentially large amount of water samples over the next few months with the State of Emergency that is happening in Flint right now. Wondering if there are any locations near the Lab that we could utilize for this effort if necessary. At a minimum, the space would need to be secured and temperature controlled, only to prevent freezing. Also looking for pallets that can hold around 1000 Lbs or more. The idea is that we palletize samples here and have them transferred to this storage location on a daily/weekly basis as necessary. There is really no storage space for this kind of capacity here at the State Lab. Initial estimate of space needs based on the number of potential samples would be 1000-1500 ft^2, enough to hold around 100 (3'x4') pallets with additional space to maneuver around to get to specific pallets if necessary.

Sandip – Copying you on this message if you have any ideas that could help.

Thank you!

Flint To Host Democratic Presidential Debate

Flint will host a Democratic primary presidential debate March 6 at a time and location yet to be determined, the Democratic National Committee (DNC) announced today, giving the two remaining candidates an opportunity to focus on the issues they see as creating the city's water crisis.

The party's two remaining major candidates -- former Secretary of State Hillary CLINTON and U.S. Sen. Bernie SANDERS (I-VT) -- will also debate in April and May with times and locations to be determined.

Clinton had asked for debate to be held in Flint "to shine a spotlight on what's happening there and in places like Flint around the country," according to her campaign chair John PODESTA.

The debate would happen two days before Michigan's March 8 presidential primary, which will take place after Super Tuesday. It also assumes both Sanders and Clinton remain in the race.

Michigan Democratic Party Chair Brandon DILLON said he was "thrilled" to welcome the candidates to Michigan.

"America has witnessed the man-made public health disaster inflicted upon the city of Flint, and we applaud Hillary Clinton and Bernie Sanders for their efforts to shine a light on the crisis, especially when our Republican governor has done everything he can to keep Michigan's citizens in the dark," Dillon said. "Holding a presidential debate in Flint will bring further into focus the issues faced by working families here in Michigan and around the country."

Hi Scott - I talked to Jessie this morning and she said you would be around to build a Flint area for us. Are you free? I know you have no voice.

Fitton, Scott (DTMB) 10:35 AM:

i am free, and yeah, my voice is shot

Jannereth, Kate (DEQ) 10:37 AM:

what kind of hoops are you going to make me jump through? Jessie said to avoid charter we are going to add it to CIU's and build a functional level to restrict access (for now to Mike Marshall only).

We need it asap for AG and FOIA.

Fitton, Scott (DTMB) 10:38 AM:

hopefully not too many my first question is which group is this actually for?

Jannereth, Kate (DEQ) 10:38 AM:

That's what I like to hear

Group? Well it will be holding ALL Flint docs.

Attorney General may need access, Auditor General may need access.

Some secretaries may eventually get access for FOIA

Fitton, Scott (DTMB) 10:39 AM:

and it's going to hold things that belong to cip, oea, rrd, etc?

Jannereth, Kate (DEQ) 10:41 AM:

Wellllllll it will most likely hold docs from ODWMA - Community Drinking Water which CIP is sort of part of. It will (I think) hold docs from DEQ-Exec and DEQ-Admin as of right now it does not appear DHS docs will be going in tere

there

Fitton, Scott (DTMB) 10:43 AM:

ok, just a second. i want to take a look at the org setup in rm

I have pulled Marshall into this chat.

Marshall, Michael (DEQ) 10:46 AM:

why? what did I do?

Fitton, Scott (DTMB) 10:46 AM:

k. i think the biggest question is who takes ownership of this from an rm and billing perspective. it shouldn't be difficult to build an area for this, but assigning it to an already active charter is the quick and dirty way to get this up and running, which we should be able to do today

everything mike. everything

Jannereth, Kate (DEQ) 10:46 AM:

I can handle the billing

it can go to CIP and I can EJV it around

Fitton, Scott (DTMB) 10:47 AM:

ok

Marshall, Michael (DEQ) 10:48 AM:

simple structure. no retention applied it will be moved into appropriate programmatic containers at a later date.

I will need sub folders.

Fitton, Scott (DTMB) 10:49 AM:

flint investigation with no retention at the file plan level, access only for mike som primary folders with just a title for the main folders?

Marshall, Michael (DEQ) 10:49 AM:

yes. we will add access as the big wigs figure out the true need.

Fitton, Scott (DTMB) 10:50 AM:

ok, easy enough. can assign view or modify, blah blah

Marshall, Michael (DEQ) 10:50 AM:

roger that

Fitton, Scott (DTMB) 10:50 AM:

what subfolders would be needed?

Marshall, Michael (DEQ) 10:51 AM:

Well, for this exercise we have to leave the Records Management reservation a little. The AG wants the submission to them to mimic actual paper storage

Fitton, Scott (DTMB) 10:52 AM:

that's fine. just wondering about any needed indexing fields or metadata at the subfolder (or document) level

Marshall, Michael (DEQ) 10:52 AM:

so a large file for the person and then sub folders and perhaps yet another level under that I don't know if ODWMA has a current structure for this right now. Ultimately any fields they usually use so we don't have to duplicate work, or we can add that info later too. Right now it is just "Get it done"

Fitton, Scott (DTMB) 10:54 AM:

odwma is currently "on hold" in terms of getting their structure built in rm, so they don't actually have anything defined cip has a generic document type which only has a title, the container it goes into, and then a notes field

Jannereth, Kate (DEQ) 10:54 AM:

Would an index of date created be useful to easily sort by timeline?

Marshall, Michael (DEQ) 10:54 AM:

yes please

Fitton, Scott (DTMB) 10:55 AM:

date created will be captured by the system when a record is registered. when i file an email out of outlook, the date created will be the date the email was sent or received. word documents will be when a doc is created/saved for the first time that works.

Marshall, Michael (DEQ) 10:56 AM:

Fitton, Scott (DTMB) 10:56 AM:

so that's a matter of getting the columns set up more than anything. not sure what kinds of records will be going in here, but email in particular is pretty easy to pull out

Fitton, Scott (DTMB) 10:58 AM:

ok, i'll build that out in production (som1) to get it moving, and give you (mike) access to that area as well as access to the SOM Primary and SOM Secondary folders.

Marshall, Michael (DEQ) 10:59 AM:

thanks a lot

Fitton, Scott (DTMB) 10:59 AM:

i do want to have a quick conversation with jessie about how to structure the back-end docstore for the documents since we know these will be moving around to other areas at a later date but once i have that, i'll shoot you both an email with what we want to do, and then i can finish off the build and get you guys moving

Marshall, Michael (DEQ) 10:59 AM:

okie dokie

Jannereth, Kate (DEQ) 11:02 AM:

Let me know what forms you need or document trail. My calendar says busy but I am not attending today's meetings.

Fitton, Scott (DTMB) 11:03 AM:

thanks. will do. i will need to throw together a configuration document that will need your sign off, but we should be ok other than that.

Fitton, Scott (DTMB) 1:45 PM:

Missing from where? The cip flint water area is emptied out. I don't see any folders underneath that area and I didn't remove any documents from any folders.

State employees who are caught manipulating data could be convicted of a felony under legislation Rep. Phil Phelps plans to introduce, he announced Monday.

Mr. Phelps (D-Flushing) said in a statement the legislation prevents government corruption by making it a felony for any state employee to knowingly manipulate data that would change the outcome of an official report. The felony would be punishable by up to five years in prison.

"As we began to comb through all of the facts surrounding Flint's water crisis it was frightening to learn that there were very few laws on our books that protect the public from potential government abuse such as data manipulation," Mr. Phelps said. "I am not sure if anyone involved in the Flint water crisis deliberately changed or removed critical data in state reports, but I am absolutely certain that it should be a crime if it did happen."

Mr. Phelps said he plans on introducing the legislation when the House resumes session next week.

"Protecting Michigan residents should be our highest priority, yet the Auditor General recently noted that potential bad actors in our government merely stand to lose their jobs, even if they put innocent lives in jeopardy," he said. "As elected leaders we must send out a signal to everyone letting them know that we will not tolerate this form of injustice."

How we are fixing the Flint water crsis

Governor Rick Snyder has committed to spending the rest of his time as Governor to fixing the Flint water crisis. Over the last few days, he has sat down to explain what happened and how we're fixing the Flint water crisis. Watch the interviews below and be sure to read the Governor's Op-Ed in the USA Today.

Governor Snyder on Morning Joe

"What is so frustrating and what makes you so angry is you have a handful of experts who were career civil servants that made terrible decisions, in my view. We have to live with the consequences, and they worked for me, so I accept that responsibility. We are going to fix this problem." Watch Governor Snyder address how we are fixing the Flint water crisis on Morning Joe.

Governor Snyder with Charlie LeDuff on Fox 2 Detroit

"I feel awful about this. These are people. They've been harmed. You can't feel good about that. The people of Flint have been harmed and a major influence of that harm came from people who worked for me, and I feel responsible for that. But I am committed to solving the problem and addressing the damage as much as possible for the rest of the time I'm Governor." Watch Governor Snyder address the Flint water crisis with Charlie LeDuff on Fox 2 News.

Governor Snyder's 2016 State of the State

"Michiganders don't quit, we don't give up, instead we will work with even more passion and commitment to truly improve our state. For everyone who's chosen to make Michigan their home, this is more than a promise, this is my commitment." Watch Governor Snyder's full closing statement from his 2016 State of the State address.

Governor in USA Today: "I will fix this, and I mean it."

"Residents in one of Michigan's proud cities cannot drink their water. That's unacceptable. The crisis in Flint arose from missteps at all levels of government — local, state and federal. But as governor, I take responsibility for what these families are going through, and I'm holding people in my administration accountable for their failures." Washington Post: "Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder is in a tough spot, but he's his own best spokesman"

Snyder has born the brunt of criticism in the local health crisis that has turned into a national scandal. But unlike many other politicians facing crises of leadership, Snyder may also be his own best counter-programming. Click here to read the full story in the Washington Post.

During this month's Martin Luther King Jr. holiday weekend, some state employees turned their "day off" into a "day on" in Flint. There, they delivered bottled water, water filters, replacement cartridges and water testing kits to families. The volunteers joined other Michiganders, turning Dr. King's birthday observance into a day of service.

Office of Retirement Services staff contributed funds that were used to buy 31 cases and 23 gallons of water, which a local organization transported to Flint.

Now work.

Last week, I signed a new policy that formalizes the annual employee review process and sets expectations for employees and managers. Administrative Policy 200.37 establishes consistent standards for implementing performance plans and reviews. Some of the standards are practices we have followed for years. Others are new. Some of particular note include:

- The mandatory use of HRMN
- A standard Feb. 1-Jan. 31 rating period for all employees
- An Individual Development Plan that specifies training or development programs for each employee
- Competencies and objectives that align to DTMB goals or scorecard metrics
- Consequences for managers and supervisors who do not complete the review process as required

A fundamental role of each DTMB manager or supervisor is to provide employees with direction and feedback on their performance. Employees also are expected to take an active role in pursuing professional development opportunities and achieving their competencies and objectives. I encourage you to review the new policy and talk with your manager or supervisor if you have questions. Of course, I welcome your questions and input as well. Please send your comments and ideas to me at behend@michigan.gov.

I know these have been busy weeks for many of you as you take on additional responsibilities and work hard to provide resources and services for our customers and citizens across the state. Please know that your hard work has not gone unnoticed. Thank you for everything you do, every day.

Have a great week,

David

THANK YOU!

Fellow employees,

Each day, more than 46,000 state of Michigan employees come to work with the confidence and commitment to make Michigan a better place to live, work and play. I appreciate the way you care about the citizens we serve, and how it is reflected in the work that you do.

As you have heard from me and the media, our reputation and trust can be severely impacted when people do not make good decisions, or use good judgment in solving problems. That principle is universal, but never more so than when public health is at stake. What happened in Flint can never be allowed to happen again anywhere in our state.

I know that you want to work in a place where employee input is valued, efforts are recognized, and teams are always striving for continuous improvement. That's why we introduced employee surveys, Bureaucracy Busters and other reinvention initiatives. We want and deserve a culture of innovation, continuous improvement and employee engagement at every level. We can never take for granted how important the people are who depend on us to do our jobs, and I am asking you not to let the situation in Flint negatively impact your motivation to excel every day.

Many of you have taken an interest in helping the citizens of Flint on your own time, and I'd like to take this opportunity to recognize and thank those who have volunteered over the last couple of weekends. You have worked tirelessly to deliver cases of bottled water, water filters, replacement cartridges and water testing kits to the families in need. I appreciate you donating your time to help our fellow Michiganders. To date, more than 37,000 homes have been visited by one of our water resource teams.

For employees who would like to further help the people of Flint, please visit www.HelpForFlint.com to learn how you can do so. For additional information and to sign up for daily updates, please visit www.mi.gov/FlintWater. I am committed to ensuring that all residents have access to safe and clean water.

Again, I'd like to express my gratitude for the work you do every day to continuously improve our state and earn the trust of those you serve. You make a real difference.

Thanks,

Budget recommendation will include $30 million request for Flint water bill repayments

When Governor Rick Snyder presents his budget recommendation next Wednesday, Feb. 10, he will include a $30 million request for the residents of Flint to keep their water service on and eliminate the need to pay for water they cannot completely trust to drink.

Under the governor's ask, the funding would enable the city of Flint to apply credits for customers on future bills. Estimates show water is roughly 47 percent of billing and sewer costs are around 53 percent. The credit would be applied to consumption usage (roughly 65 percent) of a resident's water portion of the bill, such as for bathing, drinking, cooking, and washing your hands. Residents still would be responsible for paying the sewer portion of their water bills.

Professor Marc Edwards of Virginia Tech said, "This essentially refunds all the money associated with consumption or consumer use. I think it's an amazing gesture of common sense and good will and it corrects an injustice. I don't think there's a precedent for this. I feel so encouraged by the direction this is going."

Click here to learn more about the budget request.

We spoke with Staff Sgt. Thomas Vega about the critical resources they're providing to Flint families every day. He also encouraged residents to pick up and return their water testing kits to Flint fire stations. Test results will be posted online at www.mi.gov/flintwater. Click here to watch the video.

DTMB Header 3522.JS

Good morning everyone. I hope everyone had a great holiday weekend.

I had the good fortune to travel to Marquette on Monday with Chad Laidlaw, DTMB's policy and planning analyst, to meet with city, business and university leaders and to address the Economic Club of Marquette. I told them about the many things DTMB does, placing special emphasis on our work in mobility and cybersecurity. Marquette is really developing and making its mark as an innovative and entrepreneurial community.

Now work.

The executive budget Gov. Snyder presented last week outlined his investment plan for Michigan. Yes, the proposal for fiscal year 2017-18 outlined a strategy to address the critical challenges of addressing the Flint water crisis and turning around Detroit's Public Schools, but the $54.9 billion plan also includes investment in four key areas:

- Education. The budget increases investment to K-12 schools, community colleges and the state's public universities. Additional funds are proposed to expand career, technical, science, technology, engineering and math programs.
- Protecting the Public. The governor's plan expands the Secure Cities program, which has reduced violent crime in four major Michigan cities. Funds also would support an additional trooper recruit school and an academy to train corrections officers, among other initiatives.
- Putting People First. The governor recommends continued expansion of the Healthy Kids Dental Program and funding efforts to ensure residents have access to affordable health care. His proposal boosts funds to help cover new higher cost specialty medications to treat conditions such as hepatitis C and cystic fibrosis, among others.
- Investing in Infrastructure. The proposal allocates $1.2 billion to maintain and repair Michigan roads, bridges and other critical infrastructure.

The budget proposal also includes FY 2017-18 funding recommendations for DTMB. Gov. Snyder recommends ongoing funding of $1.3 billion for department operations and a one-time allocation of $32.4 million.

A few highlights include:

- $502 million for information technology support for all state agencies and $132.8 million for 14 high-priority IT projects in seven agencies. He recommends increasing the Information Technology Investment Fund by $7 million, from $65 million to $72 million. This fund supports several major multiyear IT projects and upgrades, including the replacement of outdated legacy systems.
- An additional $5 million to support cybersecurity improvements to safeguard citizens' personal information and protect critical infrastructure and government services.
- IT support of $6.5 million to modernize the Office of Retirement Services' systems and enhance customer service for more than 530,000 current and future retirees.

You can see the full executive budget recommendations, which are posted on the Budget Office website. Details of DTMB's proposed budget begin on page B-75.

We can expect to see many changes before the budgets are signed and become effective Oct. 1. The executive budget will be used by the House and Senate Appropriations Committees as they work on their own budgets and hold committee hearings on the proposals. I'll keep you posted as the process moves ahead.

As always, I welcome your notes, whether about the budget process or any other topic. Please send them to me at behend@michigan.gov.

Thank you again for all the good work you do. I hope you have a great week ahead.

David

Mike, it should already be built and available to you. We just need the official sign off from the both of you on this, so I'll just file it once I hear back from her. Other than that you should be good to go.

Good Afternoon!

When we originally worked with Jessie to set up HP Records Manager, we talked about 2 years retention for all records. We just need to keep all the Flint Water related records for 6 years. I will be at a meeting shortly, but we could talk this afternoon.

Have a great day!

Pam,

My voice is gone and Jessie is teaching classes all day, so we'll try and cover this through email. At least for today.

Is there a retention schedule item for the 6 years you'll need to keep these records? I can think of a couple of possible solutions for this, but I wanted to get a handle on that question first. Let me know if you have that or not and then we will put some possible solutions together.

We were talking about this today with our manager. Multiple departments are talking about a central place to store everything about Flint water and they might use Records Manager. Can you just hold onto the tickets for now? You can close as usual, do everything else you normally do, just use that Flint checkbox. That way we can help you decide what to do with them after the bigger decisions get made; they might get swept up in that bigger organizational action.

Hello Everyone,

As I promised, I just got off the phone with David Gould about the situation you guys have at hand with the Flint Water crisis. Unfortunately, from our end there would be no legal way for us to provide licenses up front for the different departments that are involved. However, we already have a negotiated purchasing contract in place with you guys for RM licenses. We simply need a PO from you for the amount of licenses that you need based on that contract and from there we should have the licenses turned back around to you right away.

Please let me know how you want to proceed and I will gladly help!
